If your car or Bluetooth accessory isn't connecting to your phone, try the solutions below. Step 1: Check Bluetooth basics Step 2: Troubleshoot by problem type Can't pair with car Open your phone's Settings app. Tap Connected devices Previously connected devices. If you don't see "Previously connected devices," tap Bluetooth. If you see devices you're not currently using, next to each device name, tap Settings Forget Forget device. To clear phones paired with your car, follow your car's manual. Clear any phones you're not currently using. If you paired your phone and car before, clear your phone. To learn whether to pair from your phone or car, check your car's manual. Check that your car is discoverable and ready to pair. Open your phone's Settings app. Tap ;Connected devices. If you see "Bluetooth," tap it. Tap Pair new device your car's name. Open your phone's Settings app. Tap Connected devices. If you see "Bluetooth," tap it. Keep this screen open. On your car's list of devices, pick your phone's name. If asked, check that the PINs shown on your phone and car's screens match. Tap Allow access to your contacts and call history. Tap Pair, Accept, or Confirm. Can't pair with accessory Check that your accessory is discoverable and ready to pair. Follow the instructions that came with your accessory. Often, you'll see a blue light on an accessory when it's ready to pair. You must connect some accessories, like folio keyboards, to your phone or tablet before they can pair. Refresh your accessory list. Open your phone's Settings app. Tap Connected devices. If you see "Bluetooth," tap it. Tap Pair new device your accessory's name. If your accessory needs a passcode and you don't have it, try 0000 or 1234 (the most common passcodes). Can't hear music Important: Not all cars can play music by Bluetooth. If the problem is with a car, check the car's manual. Check that the volume is up on your phone and car or accessory. Check that other devices paired with your phone
